Optimistic Reports of Country's Thrift

Increase in U.S. Postal Receipts Spells Prosperity

Washington, April 27.—Postal receipts in the 50 largest cities of the United States for the month of March exceeded those of March, 1922, by 15 per cent, the greatest percentage increase of any month since last June, with the excetion of January.

The average rate of increase in these cities for the 9 months of the present fiscal year has been 13.12 per cent, which is more than double the average increase of postal receipts for the last 40 years.

Another iudication of increased business and prosperity reflected by the postoffice department is that furnished by the postal receipts of 50 industrial cities. These are separate and distinct from the 50 largest cities. The postal receipts in the 50 industrial cities show an increase in March over March of 1922 of 12.91 per cent. There was no particular district to which the increase was confined.

Waterbury, Conn., made the largest gain, while Cheyenne stood second, and Charlotte, N. C., third.

Passing of R. R. Man

Redlands, May 4.—W. Heyward Myers of Philadelphia, 67 years old, vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad system, died at his winter home here Tuesday. He had been ill for some months, having come to Redlands three years ago for his health.

Soft Drink Permits

Permits to sell soft drinks were granted by the city council last night to M. A. Daigle, 1110 Macdonald avenue, and to Mrs. Anna Kosovis, 1524 Potrero avenue.

Zerolenes Win

The zerolene No. 5 bowlers defeated the Richmond Elks Monday night in their final practice match before they enter the Pacific bowling congress in San Jose to-morrow. The final score was 2695 to 2626.

Good Report

The general secretary of Richmond Y. M. C. A. in his report for April states that eleven meetings were held in physical work and the attendance was 246. The "Y" develops muscles and brains and fits a boy for future usefulness, if it is in his makeup.

First Street Dance Hall Well Conducted Place

That public dancing can be conducted properly in Richmond is proven by the quiet and orderly way the public dance hall is conducted at First and Macdonald. It is a mistake that West Macdonald is the "roughneck" part of town. Only the "knockers" make such statements.

Sounds Fishy

The attention of discontented American labor is called to the fact that British farm laborers are striking for a wage of $7.35 a week.

Japan will pay over $3,000,000 in ship subsidies this year. The Japanese appear to believe that a merchant marine is worth what it costs to have it.

Bridge Work Started On Vallejo End of Structure

Vallejo, May 4.—At a meeting of the Vallejo rotary club Wednesday President Hanford of the Rodeo Ferry Co. stated that the bridge would be open for traffic by July 1, 1925.

Temporary work has already started at the bridgehead on the Vallejo side of the straits, temporary roads, driving of piles and other preparations being made.

Plans for a celebration on the Fourth of July to mark the beginking of the work are being arranged.

The big event and celebration will take place at the completion of the bridge, when Solano and Contra Costa will join in commemoration of the welding together of two of California's best counties.

The plans call for a bridge of cantilever type, to cost approximately $4,000,000. There will be two spans of 1100 feet each and two of 500 feet each. There will also be a viaduct approach of 1000 feet on the Contra Costa county side.

Skillet of Beans Cost Campers $75

Last summer two men were camping in the Klamath National Forest. The weather was clear and hot and the woods like tinder.

Noontime came. Among the dry pine needles they built a fire to warm their skillet of beans.

As they sat down to enjoy their meal, a forest ranger rode up and asked for their campfire permit. The men had failed to get one.

So the other day they told their story to a Federal District Judge in San Francisco.

That skillet of beans cost them just $75.

Moral: Be sure to get a campfire permit before you build a fire on a national forest in California.

JOURNALISM OF THE PAST

A Century Ago Much Space Was Devoted to Popularity of Short Hair for Men.

How newspapers record the events which make history is well indicated in a short description of the progress of the Observer, which in 1921 completed 130 years of publication, says the London Daily News.

In 1791, which saw the first issue of the paper, France had adopted a new constitution which was enthusiastically received by many people in this country. At home interest was centered on outrages in Ireland. Duels were fought at Blackheath, and highwaymen ruled the road ten miles from London—at Hounslow.

Much space was devoted to the increasing popularity of short hair among men of fashion, and in the literary world Boswell's "Life of Johnson" appeared.

In the early days headlines were not thought of. Wellington's famous dispatch describing the final defeat of Napoleon was published under an extremely businesslike legend in small capitals.

Although the Indian mutiny broke out on May 10, 1857, it was not until June 7 that the event was recorded in a three-line paragraph in a London newspaper.

It was in THE TERMINAL.

A marriage license was issued in Martinez Tuesday to Juan Ramirez, 27, and Arnulfo Morales, 18, both of Richmond.

Teachers' Tenure Act Is Defeated in the Assembly

Sacramento, May 4.—The bill to repeal the teachers' tenure act was defeated in the assembly yesterday by a vote of 14 to 60.

Dr. Dozier, assemblyman from Redding, urged that the statute be repealed on the ground that it was of socialistic origin and retarded educational advancement.

"Only with a teaching personnel, always subject to change, is it possible to place in the schools as instructors the best minds that can be obtained."

The state tenure law provides that a teacher who has given satisfactory service in a school for two years cannot be ousted from his or her position except after a public hearing of charges.

Swimming Parties

Swimming parties are being organized for nearly every night of the week, many going to the Berkeley baths; but the majority patronizing Piedmont.

Two hours' street car riding takes the charm out of the trip. Many go in automobiles. This cuts the time in two. But wouldn't it be fine if Richmond had a natatorium.

Looking For Campsite

The local directors of the Y. M. C. A., piloted by Secretary A. W. Mueler, will go on a tour of inspection next week to ascertain the best available campsite for the boys for their regular annual vacation and outing.

Russian River and Clear lake resorts will be investigated, both attractive places, with all the features that make a vacation interesting to the American youth.

SITUATION IN A NUTSHELL

Smyrna Problem Really Nothing at All When All the Facts Are Properly Understood.

We have studied this situation in Smyrna carefully, and from all we can make out of it, it's something like this:

The Turks, headed by Albumaeh Key (or some name like that) are at Dmniwpre (or something like that) which is only a short distance from Wrtapammeg (or some place like that). Now if they leave Dmniwpre and advance upon Wrtapammeg they will be nearer to Abbabbammert (or something like that) than they were before they left Dmniwpre.

This, as we understand it, means that they are threatening Pappret-top (or something like that) in eastern upper Leixtemporza (or something like that).

Now obviously this isn't fair. The best course for the allies to pursue, as we see it, is to go straight down to Wrtapammeg and tell those Turks where they get off at—which is clearly Zamhttiegile (or something like that).—Life.

CITY'S ENORMOUS GROWTH

The figures show that the passenger traffic of New York still continues to grow by leaps and bounds. The increase since 1919 has been more than 500,000,000, or at the rate of about 20 per cent. The per capita riding has increased from 421 in 1920 to 497 last year, to 448 this year, based upon an estimated population of the city in 1923 of 5,780,670. The per capita riding in 1860, the first year of which there is any record available, was 43.

Miss Ruth Baker, a student at Teachers' college, San Jose, was the guest of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. F. K. Baker, Saturday and Sunday.

Only Two Votes Cast Against Budget Measure

Sacramento, May 4.—The Assembly by a vote of 71 to 2 passed the budget bill with amendments put through by anti-administration men increasing its total by more than $1,000,000. The two voting against the bill on final roll call were Assemblyman Fullwider and Moore, both administration men.

There was no debate on the bill.

The grand total of the budget bill, including the anti-administration amendments, is now about $80,000,000.

Taxation Taskmasters

The fight against exorbitant taxation has been a merry one in western states and is still going on. There has been a cessation in the volume of legislation in some states as high as 50 per cent.

In Utah and Idaho all propositions to increase taxes on the mining industry were defeated and substantial cuts made in the overhead by salary reductions and abolition of useless offices.

In California the fight to force through a regular budget is still on, and Governor Richardson is backed by the metropolitan and country newspapers in his aggressive fight to slash the budget.

In Oregon consolidation bills were defeated by the old guard with the cry that no economy was possible by abolishing scores of boards and commissions. A higher gasoline tax and a state income was enacted.

Legislatures are still wasting money like drunken sailors on clerical assistance, maintaining inequalities in paying for the same work at different salaries, and office help at all kinds of salaries that are not paid in private business and well-managed corporations.

The people do not realize that these practices cause social discontent among the workers and are destructive to equal rights before the law, the surest way to promote bolshevism and undermine the political structure.

PREFERRED THE CASH

Youngsters that come in contact with the public become most worldly wise. Johnny shined shoes and knew the ways of the world from intimate, and sometimes bitter, experience. One day a prosperous looking old gentleman stepped up into the shine stand. He eyed Johnny with friendly interest.

"Young man, you look like a bright, intelligent young fellow," he remarked.

Johnny looked up at him unimpressed.

"Say, mister," he retorted, "I've had that line pulled on me before. What I want to know before we go any further, is this a cash shine or when I get through will you pat me on the head and tell me I'll be governor some day?"—Kansas City Star.

SCOTS RAISING FOXES

Scots realize that the women will have their furs and that the trappers cannot keep up with the demand. Silver-fox raising, which was started in Ross-shire two years ago, has proved a success and the new industry will be extended. The Highlanders may seem personally partial to bare knees, but their well-known racial thrift convinces them that the fashion for furs should be catered to. The Scottish board of agriculture is encouraging the fox breeding.—Science Service.

THE RICHMOND TERMINAL is the oldest newspaper in Richmond.

Contra Costa County Elks Prepare For Picnic

The picnic given by Contra Costa Elks last year was such a big success that it is planned to hold another this year, and to follow up regularly with the annual outings.

Last year the picnic was held late in the summer, when the greenery had faded and the dust and bad roads made the outing less attractive.

Ramona park is one of the most beautiful park sites in Contra Costa county. The picnic will be held there, and George Meese, county assessor, is the general chairman. He will see that all details are taken care of to make the picnic one of the most enjoyable ever held in the county.

It is estimated that 2000 Elks will be in attendance.

Why Not Abolish the Joyriders?

Several bills have been introduced in the California legislature for the relief of shippers from the expense of "joy riders" on trains.

For the extra men on trains made compulsory by the full-crew law are nothing but joy riders or salaried tourists.

The burden of their wages is borne not by the railroads, for public-rate tribunals in regulating freight and passenger rates are required to take notice of the cost of service, but by producers and shippers, and finally by the ultimate consumer.

The only purpose of the full-crew law is to create more jobs and the only reason such a law was passed was that politicians hoped thereby to obtain the votes of employes in train service. It is a shameful prostitution of legislative authority and an equally shameful betrayal of the people's rights.

Governor Richardson has promised to relieve the people of California from burdensome taxation and his budget gives assurance that his promise will be kept. His method for accomplishing this is not to cripple any institution or agency of the state essential to the public welfare, but kick out of office and off the state's payroll political henchmen, parasites and useless boards and commissions created for no other purpose than to make jobs for the friends of politicians.

OCEAN GRIPS THE SAILORS

Though They Sometimes Say They Hate It, Old Seadogs Tenaciously Cling to Father Neptune.

"It's a funny thing how we old seadogs stick to the sea, although we all say we hate it," said one of the senior pursers on a big liner the other day, according to the New York Sun. "I've noticed in many instances that when a man is retired after a long service on the sea he dies within his first 12 months on shore life.

"It's not that the sea has treated the men too harshly or that they are superannuated. It's just that once they get away from their old surroundings and their old life they feel that all their foundations have been swept away and that there is no excuse for living.

"Almost any sailor will say he wishes he was back on land, and that he could settle down as a farmer or as a clerk. Every once in a while one of them is taken seriously and is given a land job.

"About a month later he comes back sheepishly and asks for his old job. In a week he is kicking again, but by this time he has sense enough to shy off whenever there is any danger of any one believing him."

City Primaries Surprise Many "Old Timers"

High School Buildings Look Good to Visitors

That fleet of high school units on 22d and 23d streets causes astonishment. The eastern tourist visitor cannot understand how we can do it. Caretaker Cummings keeps the grounds in good condition.

RUBBER PAVEMENTS

But for their expensiveness it is probable that pavements of india rubber would be largely used in city streets. That, at least, is the inference to be drawn from experience with rubber pavement in London. In 1881 the two roads under the hotel at Euston station were paved with rubber two inches thick. This pavement, under heavy traffic, remained in continuous use for 21 years. In 1903 it was renewed, having been worn down to about half its original thickness. Lately a rubber pavement has been laid in the courtyard of the Savoy hotel, London. The cost for covering an area of 75 by 50 feet was nearly $10,000.

BEAN "BOARDS" FOR ANIMALS

Bean "boards" is the name given to a new product, which is made in Dairen, China. It is used for feeding animals and is chiefly exported to America. The "boards" are rectangular in shape, measuring 28 by 12 inches with a thickness of eight-tenths of an inch. By submitting them to higher pressure than is applied in the case of bean cake, they are made to contain less moisture, which renders them less liable to mold in transit.—Scientific American.

AGED MESSENGER RETIRES

Edward Dunn, who began his War department duties 60 years ago as personal messenger for Secretary Stanton, was recently retired. Dunn has been the personal messenger of every secretary of war since Stanton. He began by riding on horseback up Pennsylvania avenue to deliver his messages to the capitol or the White House. In later years he consented to use a small carriage, but never an automobile.

Results "Coming Up" From Community Chest

(Albany Argus)

Hollis Thompson, who is acknowledged as our boy's best friend, is here today arranging schedules and getting things in shape by organizing the Albany boys for future work and play, the latter an important feature from the boys' point of view.

The community chest will take care of the expense, and some fine entertainments are being planned, good work, clean and healthful.

George F. Black High Candidate in Primaries

It is predicted that there will be an interesting election Monday, May 14, when the six candidates, three to elect, start in the race for councilmanic honors.

George F. Black, as this newspaper predicted, ran ahead of all expectations in Monday's primaries, and even lead Mayor Garrard, the "invincible," by 253 votes.

This may indicate that the people are desirous of changing the "personnel" of the city council, and that a new era is approaching in the administration of Richmond's municipal affairs.

The result of the coming general election May 14, will determine how the people of Richmond feel, and who will be the preferred ones.

The vote was light, only 2402 votes being cast out of a registration of 7200; about a one-third turnout.

It will be different at the general election, as the result has "struck with awe" some of the "old guard" who will now make the fur fly to overcome that avalanche of votes which is looming up on the political horizon.

The following is the "field" and how they ran:

George F. Black, 1295; Frank A. Scholes, 1151; E. J. Garrard, 1042; Harry O. Watson, 975; Thomas I. Cole, 808; Otto R. Ludewig, 802; Charles a Schwartz, 411.

Sheriff Veale Caught Many Bootleggers

Martinez, May 4.—Sheriff R. R. Veale, from January 1, 1923, to date has made 65 arrests, 50 of which were convictions, of violators of the Volstead prohibition act. The amount collected in fines alone total $11,145.

A carload of stills and other hooch-making paraphernalia was confiscated and destroyed, as well as the illicit products.

Met Many Old Friends

Charles W. McMasters, Richmond pioneer, who for many years conducted a large contracting business, with the head office at 232 13th street, came down from Michigan Bar last week and spent a few days visiting old friends. "Mc" looks as young as ever, and says he can "go some" yet with "the boys."

Turleys Return on Visit

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Turley are here for a few days at their home in Richmond. The Turleys are spending the summer in Vacaville, where Mr. Turley has charge of street improvement work.

The condition of Dr. H. L. Carpenter, who has been confined to his home for the past week by illness, is to-day reported to be improved.

BLOW AT RUM TRADE

GOVERNMENT DECIDES UPON DRASTIC ACTION

CALL BOOTLEGGING TREASON

Army and Navy May Be Used to Close Borders Against Smugglers

Washington.—To drive into the public conscience the knowledge that prohibition is a fact, not a joke, the federal government is preparing to use its might in a final blow to violators of the prohibition law on land and sea, to drive them forever out of business.

A manifold program, drafted by administration officials, may include the declaration that rum running and bootlegging constitute an "insurrection" and liquor law violators are rebels. Such a step would enable the president to order the whole military and naval forces of the government into action, if necessary.

The administration's program contemplates moving swiftly against bootleggers and rum runners as soon as the justice department returns a favorable ruling on the power of the president to use the army and navy in prohibition enforcement.

Will Veto Budget Increase

Sacramento.—Notice has been given the legislature by Governor Richardson that he would exercise his power to veto or cut down certain of the recurrent appropriations which the enemies of his economy program are attempting to jam into the budget and would reduce appropriations to the minimum so as to keep the budget within the $79,000,000 limit.

He said, "An attempt is being made to confuse the public mind as between the budget and budget bill. The budget bill does not contain statutory and educational appropriations because it was deemed unsafe and unnecessary to put them in it. If the legislature succeed in putting in the budget bill these recurrent appropriations I will assume that this gives me power to veto them or cut them down, and I will do so."

Airplane Shot Down

Sacramento.—Circling over San Quentin prison in an effort to obtain pictures for use in a prison escape film, an airplane containing John Stout, photographer, and A. C. Cuttebach, pilot, was shot down by guards and crashed after a thousand-foot nose dive into a marsh near the prison. Neither Stout or Cattebach was injured. Guards fired several shots into the ground as a warning to the aviators to keep away, instructions having been issued by the prison authorities recently when it was believed airplanes were dropping narcotics into the prison yard.

Coast Oil Production Cut

Los Angeles.—Oil producers, all members of the Chamber of Mines and Oil, have announced that they will curtail the oil production in the three great fields in Los Angeles and Orange counties thirty per cent for the next four months. The move is being made, it is claimed, because pipe line and tank facilities are not adequate to handle the present production, seriously handicapping operations in all departments, and second that operators believe the recent price reduction was due to the fact that excess oil was on the market.

Thirty Billions For Peace

Berlin.—30,000,000,000 gold marks is the offer the German cabinet decided to make to the allies as war reparations. The offer also will suggest that a commission of experts, in accordance with the plan of Secretary of State Hughes, examine into Germany's capacity to pay. If the commission decides that Germany should contribute more than 30,000,000,000 gold marks then the additional sum will be forthcoming, members of the government declare.

Russian Grain For Market

Moscow.—Leonid Krassin, Soviet commissar, who is the head of the Russian government's foreign trade department, makes the forecast in an interview with Rosta, the Russian semi-official news agency, that Russian grain will appear on the world's markets next fall in great quantities. The amount of food grains available will be between 170,000,000 and 180,000,000 bushels.

Judgment Day For Israelites

St. Joseph, Mich.—Judgment day looms for the Israelite House of David as the state prepares to open the second week of its one-man grand jury investigation into the alleged immoral and illegal practices of the cult. The investigation has taken on a darker significance with reports that mysterious deaths at the headquarters of the bearded cult in Benton Harbor are being thoroughly investigated.

Lynch Girl's Assailant

Columbia, Mo.—Although Professor A. H. Almstedt begged a lynching party to let the law punish his daughter's assailant, a mob pushed him into the background and hanged Charles Scott, a negro suspect, from a railroad trestle, while chapel bells sounded Sunday chimes across the University of Missouri campus.

Pennsylvania Miners Out

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—A general strike of coal miners in the Pittston district was called affecting more than 10,000.

WATER COMPETITION IS MET

Many Articles Included In New Tariffs Which Become Effective June 1

San Francisco.—Drastic reductions in freight rates, ranging as high as 40 per cent, and covering a wide range of products, were announced here by the Southern Pacific, Western Pacific and Santa Fe railroad companies, together with statements that the cuts were being made to meet the competition of intercoastal steamship companies, carrying freight between California and the east coast.

The reductions on all three roads will become effective June 1, and were decided upon at a meeting of the transcontinental lines held in Chicago last week for the purpose of taking action on requests of the shipping public for lower rates embracing many articles which have been moving in large volume by water.

The commodities affected on the various roads are:

Southern Pacific, eastbound: Dry hides, poultry or stock feed, salt cake, real shooks and heads, plaster-board and scrap and waste paper. Westbound: Shock absorbers, conduit fittings, cereals and cereal products, zinc, trailers, press-steel automobile bodies, stoves and furnaces, canned goods, cash registers, cooling-room material, plate glass, glass bottles and fruit jars, musical instruments, including pianos and organs, paints, paper bags and wrapping paper, tissue paper, paper boxes, paper labels, roofing and roofing material, refrigerators, soap, carbonate of soda, rubber tires, starch and packing house products.

Santa Fe, eastbound: Waste or scrap paper and salt cake. Westbound: Automobile parts, automobile bodies, automobile bumpers, burlap, canvas, fruit jars and bottles, heating apparatus, malted milk, motorcycles and bicycles, automobile shop and garage equipment, sulphate of ammonia, carbide of calcium, cereal beverages and denatured oil.

Western Pacific, westbound: Conduit fittings, shock absorbers, cereals and cereal products, zinc, trailmobiles, auto bodies, stoves, incinerators, cash registers, refrigerators, canned goods, plate glass, jars and bottles, musical instruments, paints, paper dishes, envelopes, labels, napkins and towels, wall paper, bond paper, paper tablets, wrapping paper, roofing material and washing compounds, caustic soda, rubber tires, starch and packing house products.

Definite rates will be announced, it was stated, as soon as schedules can be published. The reductions affect various Eastern territories, principally Pittsburg and Cincinnati. The present rate on packing house products from St. Louis, of $2.47 per 100 pounds, will be cut to $2.40.

Alien Land Cases Heard

Washington.—Four alien land cases brought from California and Washington, involving the constitutionality of laws of those states have been submitted for argument in the supreme court.

In the lower courts the laws were sustained to the extent of prohibiting such aliens not only from leasing land, but from holding stock in land owning corporations. The lower courts held, however, that aliens could lawfully enter into contracts with land owners, under which they undertook to farm the land upon a crop sharing basis.

The cases heard were those of W. L. Porterfield and Y. Mizuno of Raymond, R. Frick and N. Satow and of J. J. O'Brien and others, all against the attorney general and other officers of California; and of Frank Terrace and wife and N. Nakutsuka against the attorney general of Washington.

Bankers to Float Loan

New York.—Part of a second huge loan to Austria, totaling $135,000,900 this time, is to be floated in the United States through one of Wall Street's banking houses. It will be the first loan to a world war enemy in which this country has participated. The new loan is part of the League of Nations' reconstruction plan for Austria, which saved that nation from a utter financial collapse after it had been declared bankrupt and a receiver to administer its financial affairs appointed by the league.

Drowns Wife In Shallow Pond

New Britain, Conn.—That he deliberately drove his automobile over an embankment and sat on his wife in a shallow pond so that she was drowned, John A. Carlson, a plumbing contractor, confessed and is held without bonds.

Turks Reject Marriage Bill

Constantinople.—The Angora assembly has rejected the bill, introduced recently by the deputy for Arzerum, providing that all Turks aged 25 must marry and that each couple must have a child every three years.

Adrenalin Restores Heart

Los Angeles.—Use of the drug adrenalin so revived Dan Leary, badly injured by an explosion of a dynamite cap while working on a Southern Pacific right of way that he has a chance to recover. The explosion tore away parts of Leary's neck and shoulder, broke four ribs and severed a main artery.

St. Helens, Ore.—Fire completely destroyed the plant of the Columbia County Lumber company at a loss estimated at $300,000

Housekeeper Is Wanted as Nursemaid for a Pup

Unable to get a housekeeper through the usual channels, Howard L. Davis, poultryman and dog fancier of New Egypt, N. J., is advertising for "a nurse for a thoroughbred, pedigreed, registered fox terrier pup." The object may be "matrimony if the applicant falls in love with the pup."

"Big wages to the right party" are promised by Davis, who says the big requirements will be to "care for the pup and get his owner a couple of meals a day, make his bed, and keep his house clean."

DARING BANDIT KEEPS TWO STATES TERRORIZED

Spencer's Band of Desperadoes Have Committed Eight Bank Robberies.

Muskogee, Okla.—A revival of the reign of terror which gripped the West when Jesse James was at the height of his career has resulted from the activities of an unmasked bandit who is leading his gang of desperadoes in a series of bank robberies that keeps the border counties of Kansas and Oklahoma terrorized.

A jewerly store and eight banks have been rifled by bandits under his direction in the past year. Rewards totaling $30,000 have been offered for him, dead or alive. This desperado is Al Spencer, who forsook the peaceful pursuits of farming to enter upon a career of banditry.

Spencer, cool, clear-headed and hard as steel, is recognized as a real "bad man." Hence the scores of officers who are scouring the border counties for him are convinced that the only way they can bring him in is in a coffin. Spencer has not resorted to killing as yet, but officers believe he would not besitate should the necessity arise.

The short, stocky-built man who leads the bandits is an escaped convict. He has made the boast that he does not intend to serve any more time.

His boon companion and confederate is said to be Dick Gregg, a twenty-two-year-old youth, who is also a fugitive from justice. "The bandit of the Osage," as Spencer is known, has his headquarters in the hills near Bartlesville, Okla., it is known.

WRITES HIS "DIARY OF DEATH"

Poisoned Youth Records Each Emotion as He Feels Grim Reaper Coming Nearer.

Hammond, La.—After swallowing 30 grains of arsenic following his rejection by a girl he refuses to name, Harry Devine, twenty years old, staggered ten miles through the moonlight from Tickfaw, La., to Hammond, writing on the way his "diary of death," recording his emotions every quarter-mile. The clear handwriting grew dim as he went on, and one of the last lines was: "Even dying is monotonous." Found unconscious at Hammond, he was revived and may recover.

Two grains of arsenic would have killed him, physicians say, but the excessive amount probably saved his life. The youth was taken to jail, then to a private home. Citizens, mostly women, raised a fund for him. When he was told of the fund, he said:

"I hope I won't die. I'll spend the money on flowers and candy and a diamond ring for her. That ought to get her."

"I don't feel sick. Wonder if death will relieve me.

"I am passing a cemetery. Maybe they will bring me back here tomorrow. I feel I am dying, but I have no regrets.

"I am passing the fair grounds, where I danced with her last month. I guess I'm a fool, but I could not be a fool about anything better on earth or in Heaven than her."

BLOWN UNDER STREET CAR

Child, Walking With Mother, Toppled Over by Wind and Decapitated Before Her Eyes.

Steubenville, O.—Her four-year-old son, James, snatched from her by a terrific blast of wind, toppled into the street, and rolled under a street car, while she stood helpless—forced to watch the grinding wheels of the big car decapitate the lad—this was the ordeal through which Mrs. Anna Baker passed here.

Mrs. Baker was walking with her little son and he playfully ran across the street, leaving his mother on the sidewalk. He was returning to her when a terrific blast of wind picked him up and toppled him over. The momentum and force of the wind rolled the body under the wheels of the oncoming car, his head being cut cleanly from his body.

Mrs. Baker realized her son's danger when he was thrown over by the wind, and with a cry she sprang toward him. But the heavy car had ended the child's life before she reached the rail on which he lay.

The motorman said he saw the boy cross the street, but had not noticed him returning to his mother, nor did he realize that the boy was under his car until he felt the jolt.

Community Building

POINT FOR HOME BUILDERS

"Waste" for Which There Is No Necessity, and Which It Is Easy to Eliminate.

You have observed homes nearing completion and noted unused lumber lengths, studs, joists, flooring, bricks, short ends strewn "helter skelter" around the house and lot. These "left overs" usually provide the home owner with kindling wood for several years to come. At $30 per thousand feet this makes mighty expensive fuel. Sometimes this waste amounts to as much as the first year's interest on the home building investment. In nearly all cases this waste is unjustified. If the home is yours, you pay for it.

Another important source of waste is the unnecessary use of elaborate finish and expensive equipment in small homes. You can select a type wholly out of comparison, so far as expense is concerned, with the cost of the home. You can build an extravagant, complicated roof, you can overload your home with unnecessary meaningless details, such as monstrous brackets, wide, projecting eaves, heavy cornices and "frilly" things which have the appearance of being fillers or "stuck on" in an attempt to secure architectural effects.

Much of this has little or no architectural merit, renders no service, detracts from the beauty of the home, and certainly piles up the total costs to unjustified amounts. Details of this character and special equipment frequently require special knives and extra mill work.

"Extras" are things which many home builders can do without and in no way interfere with the beauty, service or comfort of the home. It is worth while to remember these things and see that your home plans are designed to eliminate waste.

MAKE USE OF SHRUBBERY

Back Yard May Be Made a Thing of Beauty by the Judicious Use of Trees and Vines.

Step into your back yard and look in six directions—north, east, south, west, up and down. You are fortunately situated if there is in more than one of these directions a view that cannot be improved. The view up is likely to be charming, and the view down, if you have a good lawn, will be. But in the other four directions, it is likely there are pictures which you would not care to have framed on the walls of your living room.

Where this is the case, the elimination of these views is the first object of garden planning. The boundaries of the private area must be determined. Allow for a vegetable garden, either within this area, or adjoining it, in a location which enjoys the maximum of sun possible. The service area for domestic uses must also be set aside unless the premises are too limited for that. And when this is done, plantings to screen the private area from the outside world, or such of it as may be undesirable to the view, may be planned.

Usually shrubbery with a few trees for accents and shade will furnish the most pleasing boundary planting. But where space is much confined lattice or board fences, to be covered with vines or even left uncovered, may be used to advantage. Use the fence if shrubbery threatens to encroach upon the flower borders or central lawn; for the chief interest of the garden will not be found in the trees and shrubs; it will be in the flowers, and the activities which may be enjoyed on the lawn.

Removal of Soot.

The Federal Fuel Administration board suggests the following plan for removal of soot: The fire is put into good condition with a substantial body of hot fuel. Common salt thoroughly dried is then thrown or sprinkled onto the incandescent fuel bed in a quantity depending entirely on the size of the furnace. In case of a house-heating furnace one pound at a time is ample, in the case of a larger power plant boiler, four or five scoopfuls may be required. The dampers are kept open so as to maintain the furnace temperature, and the salt is allowed to remain until the fumes have entirely disappeared.

Immediately upon charging with salt, the furnace becomes filled with dense white fumes which may require as much as half an hour to entirely disappear. If results are not secured on the first application it should be repeated as many times as necessary.

Once the heating surface is thoroughly cleaned a small application every few days is usually sufficient to keep it so.

Advice Always at Hand.

Building and loan associations everywhere are always glad to talk over any person's building problems. It has been the experience of the building association that in nine cases out of ten the various association officers will be familiar with the locality or even the street on which the prospective home builder contemplates putting up his home. This knowledge comes from having made many loans in various sections, and this makes the officers competent to advise whether certain types of houses would be the best.

The Sandman Story

THE GOBLINS' CIRCLE

ONCE in a far-off land there lived a band of Goblins, and once every year on a night when the moon was full these Goblins held a dance in the Goblin Circle.

The Goblin Circle was a round, bare spot in the middle of the woods and on a particular night, called Goblins' Night by the magic people, at the full of the moon, any one who entered this circle other than the Goblins was instantly changed from his own shape to that of a little Goblin.

All the Fairies and the Elves and the Pixies and Gnomes and other magic folk on Goblins' Night kept far away from Goblin Circle, for none of them wished to become a Goblin.

Now not far away from Goblin Circle lived a lazy fellow named Tim. He did not help his mother, who was a widow, as he should, but instead lay under a tree in the shade all day while his mother worked in the fields or tended the sheep.

All the Goblins Fell Upon Him.

But as soon as it was meal time Tim was nimble enough, for he was always hungry, but if he was asked to bring in some wood or draw a pail of water Tim was so slow that his mother often did it herself rather than wait for the slow Tim to bring it.

On one bright moonlight night Tim was coming along the road by the woods when he saw through the trees hundreds of little dancing figures. These were Goblins dancing in the Circle and their red caps could be plainly seen as they bobbed about in the moonlight.

"Now, what is that?" thought Tim, as he stopped whistling and looked closer. "It looks like those funny creatures I have heard of called Goblins, but I never believed there were any."

Nearer and nearer crept Tim until he was close to the Goblin Circle hidden behind a bush on top of a rock.

The Goblins' antics were so funny that Tim forgot he was hiding, and when one little Goblin stood on the head of another, and jumped with a funny twist of his queer little body, Tim laughed out loud and tumbled off the rock right into the Goblin Circle.

The dance stopped and all the Goblins fell upon poor Tim and before he knew what was happening; he was no longer a big lazy Tim; he was a little Goblin just like the others.

As there were no lazy Goblins Tim had to work. They made him jump and dance, they made him roll big rocks and open the doors to their rock houses, and finally when the dance was over they carried him off to their underground homes and set him to work.

Of course, they all worked, too, but to Tim, who had never worked, it seemed there was no time to rest.

How long he stayed with the Goblins he could never tell, but one night when they all came out of the rocks for a dance in the Circle, Tim waited until they were busy hopping and jumping and he took to his heels and off he ran.

He was almost home before he noticed that he was again the big Tim he had been before he fell into the Goblin Circle, but he was no longer Lazy Tim, for, now he was home once more, he felt sure that his lazy habit had something to do with having to work so hard for the Goblins.

He stayed away from the Goblins' Circle, too, for now he believed in the Goblins and he did not wish to be in their power again, but he did not know that it was a year from the time they caught him that the Goblins let him go.

It is only on the full of the moon on Goblins' Night, when the Goblins dance in the magic circle, that any one can escape if he has been unfortunate enough to be caught in the circle and changed into a Goblin.

So if any one is lazy and will not help his mother he better be careful not to wander near the Goblin Circle or he will have to work a whole year as hard as Tim did.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

FACTS about your name; it's history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel

MARTHA

THE names of the sisters of Bethany, Mary and Martha, are closely allied. While Mary signifies bitter, Martha means becoming bitter. Since the sister of the Blessed Virgin bore the same name as her own, both are said to come from Mara (bitter) though some believe that Martha comes from Aramean mar (a lord) often heard as the title of Syrian bishops.

Martha of Bethany, according to legend, demolished a terrible dragon by holding up a cross one time when her family was making a journey through wild country. The Marfa of Russia is of course like the English Martha, Matty and Patty (though by rights, the last named is a diminutive of Patricia and not connected with Martha at all). Indeed, in Russia Martha is considered the true housewifely woman of the Bible, independent of the legend of the dragon.

Martha's equivalent has been a royal name, therefore, many centuries, occurring frequently among the daughters of the earlier czars. The Martha used in Ireland is only an equivalent for the native Erse Meabhdh, Meave or Mab, once a great Irish princess, who has since become Queen of the Fairies, and is universally known as Queen Mab. Martha was used for Mor in Scotland. Marthe and Marthon of the south of France and the rarer Marta of Italy and Spain were all from the Provencal dragon-slayer. The name has always had a quaint old-fashioned ring and its popularity will never cease, due no doubt to its Biblical reference.

The pearl is most appropriately Martha's jewel, representing, as it does, purity of thought. Its heritage of tears would seem a fitting attribute for Martha. Monday is said to be her lucky day and seven her lucky number.

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

WHERE TO MEET

A bad beginning makes a bad ending.—Euripides.

ACCORDING to strict etiquette, of course, a young man, if he has an appointment with a young woman, meets her at her own home, and escorts her from thence to their destination. He does not suggest that she meet him at the corner drug store or that they make their rendezvous a park bench under a certain tree or the lobby of a certain hotel or the public library reading room or a railroad station waiting room.

However, for practical purposes this rule cannot always be carried out. The busy young man, who works at some distance from the residence section of town, sometimes finds that he is quite unable to take the time needed to go to a young woman's home and then accompany her to the theater or party as they have planned. There is then no very sensible reason why he should not feel free to ask the young woman to meet him half way. That is, of course, unless they are members of the ultra formal society in which such a thing would be looked upon askance. There is nothing inherently ill-bred about it. Then, too, the young woman and young man who work in the same neighborhood often find it convenient to meet each other after business hours for dinner or the theater. It would be absurd to insist that they have to meet then in the young woman's home. But one or two simple rules ought to be observed in this matter of meeting outside of one's own home. A young man ought never to set a time for such a rendezvous at an hour when he is not sure to be free. He should always strive to be at the appointed place in advance of the time set, so that the young girl will not be the one kept waiting. The young woman, on the other hand, while she should not keep the young man waiting, should not arrive ahead of time.

It is never in good form to make your rendezvous a hotel lobby or reception room unless you are planning to have luncheon or dinner there. There are some people, to be sure, who make use of the hotels in this way, but it is in rather poor taste. Even when planning to meet a young woman for luncheon or dinner at a hotel it is better to arrange to meet her in the reception room than in the lobby where she must usually walk or stand or at least encounter something of a crowd.

Somehow, in poetry, as nowhere else, there flows along, side by side with words skillfully used, a current that carries us beyond the intrinsic value of the sense.

GOOD HEALTH FOODS

Use the whole wheat fresh from the granary when obtainable, soak over night and simmer until each kernel is cracked and surrounded with cooked starch. Serve with top milk or cream without sugar. A dish of this may be cooked, kept in a cool place and served two or three times a week.

Bran Muffins.—The alimentary tract needs a good brushing occasionally to cleanse it and to stimulate the action of the digestive juices. Bran taken in spoonfuls in a glass of cold water, or stirred into any breakfast food is good, but in the form of hot muffins it is especially agreeable. Mix together one and one-half cupfuls of flour and the same of wheat bran, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of soda, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one teaspoonful of salt. Beat one egg, add one-half tablespoonful of minced parsley, one cupful of molasses and one and one-half cupfuls of milk. Pour the liquid into the dry mixture and stir until smooth. The batter should be quite thin. Add two tablespoonfuls of melted shortening and pour into well-greased muffin pans and bake until firm and brown. Raisins may be added if desired.

Onion Chowder.—Peel six or eight large onions, slice very thin and cook in four tablespoonfuls of melted butter or pork fat until a light yellow. Add three cupfuls of diced potatoes, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper and one quart of boiling water. Season with two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of sage or marjoram and cook slowly until the potatoes are tender. Add three cupfuls of hot milk and serve with crackers.

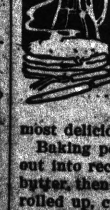

Cabbage Salad.—Shred cabbage to make one and one-half cupfuls. Soak in cold water for half and hour, drain and salt well. Mix one and one-half cupfuls of diced celery with one cupful of pecan nuts, one-half cupful of diced pineapple and French dressing to season. Let stand to marinate and serve on lettuce or cabbage leaves; garnish with bits of red pepper.

Though we can't have all we desire,
Things could be worse, I'll say;
See that your labor's worth your hire,
And you'll come out O. K.

Keep smiling on the long, hard hike,
And take a cheerful view;
And if you can't do what you like,
Try liking what you do.
—Luke McLuke.

THINGS GOOD TO EAT

This is the season of the year when we may revel in the sweets from the maple trees. Fortunate indeed are they who may have this delicious sirup from their own sugar trees, as the price on the market is largely prohibitive to the ordinary pocketbook.

Hot sirup boiled and poured over a pan of snow or ice until a wax is formed, is one of the most delicious sweets for the children.

Baking powder biscuit dough rolled out into rectangular form, spread with butter, then with scraped maple sugar, rolled up, cut into half-inch slices and baked, is another happy way to serve the maple flavor.

Plain ice cream served with nuts and maple sauce is an ice which leaves nothing to be desired.

Ripe Olive Salad.—Take one package of cream cheese, break with a fork and mix with two tablespoonfuls of orange juice; when soft enough to mold add ten ripe olives cut very fine and mold the mixture into small balls; roll these in minced parsley and arrange on lettuce. Serve with French dressing.

Orange Cookies.—Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar and the grated rind of an orange, one well-beaten egg; alternate one-half cupful of orange juice with two and one-half cupfuls of flour sifted with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Set on ice to chill. Roll and cut, sprinkle each cooky with granulated sugar and bake in a quick oven. Be sure that the orange juice is strained as the pulp when baked is apt to be bitter.

French String Beans.—Use either fresh or canned beans. Melt one tablespoonful of sweet lard and add one-half of a clove of garlic, cut in wafer-like slices. Cook for five minutes, remove from the fat, add a tablespoonful of finely minced parsley, turn the beans into the fat, mixing all together. Serve very hot.

Gypsy Stew.—Prepare and cook together young onions, small new potatoes, carrots and green peas. Fry a slice of salt pork, diced, add to the mixture when cooked, add milk and seasoning to taste. Serve as a vegetable.

States Tanlac Ended Stomach Trouble and Restored Perfect Health.

"If it hadn't been for the Tanlac treatment I don't believe I'd be on the job today," was the positive statement of F. J. Husted, 617 Murry st., Oakland, Cal., foreman at the Oakland Meat Packing plant.

"For three years I suffered with stomach trouble and during the last eight months of my sickness I could only work about half the time. I had absolutely no appetite, and the little I did eat disagreed with me fearfully. I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep, and I fell off thirteen pounds.

"But today I have a ravenous appetite, I have gained fifteen pounds, sleep like a log nights and am on the job steady every day. Tanlac sure is a wonder, and I couldn't say too much for it if I talked about it all day."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

Valuable Imitation Fur.

A process has been invented in Australia for manufacturing fleeces not adapted to spinning into an imitation fur claimed to have advantages over animal furs.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Morality for Its Own Sake.

"It is surprising," says a ponderous gentleman, "how few philosophical writers have ever reached other than a perfectly commonplace conclusion in regard to practical morality." There is no other conclusion to reach. Morality is good conduct for its own sake; no one can come to other than a commonplace conclusion about it.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE consists of an Ointment which Quickly Relieves by local application, and the Internal Medicine, a Tonic, which assists in improving the General Health.

FIFTY-FIFTY

Vanderveer—What are you going to name your new baby?

Slocum—We have decided to call him Smiler.

Vanderveer—Isn't that rather a strange selection?

Slocum—Yes, maybe; but, you see, it came about this way: I was for Smith and my wife was for Miller. I wanted to name the baby after Al, and she wanted to name him after Nat. So after a long argument we decided to go 50-50 and used half of the name of each—hence Smiler.—Brooklyn Standard-Union.

FAMINE FREES PRISONERS

The famine prevailing in Russia has, among other things, had an unexpected consequence.

As the penitentiary administration of the government of Astrakhan has nothing on which to feed its lodgers, three-fourths of the inmates, political or common, have been set free.

That Bugaboo, "Water Famine"

The meeting called for Monday night at Lincoln auditorium may not attract the crowd or create the enthusiasm predicted by some who are sounding the alarm that a "water famine" is facing the eastbay cities. This water agitation comes in cycles, and in years past has created considerable emotion among the "water politicians," who were strong on whooping it up against the water company, the latter billed to precipitate a "catastrophe" any day.

It seems within reason that a company of men, who have followed one line of business for a lifetime, should know something about it, and are capable of giving adequate service. To experiment with the untried and inexperienced at a cost that is staggering to the taxpayer, who is now bonded and taxed to the limit, is something for us to think about.

The Terminal would suggest that before voting for the water district plan you should acquaint yourself intelligently with the details—who is to pay? who is back of the utility plan; their motives, their success and failure in business and whether they are above suspicion from all the viewpoints that should be considered in experimenting with something that 75 per cent of the people know nothing about?

The Terminal may be classed by some as "non-progressive," but it has an opinion and is not afraid to express it, something that some of the "muzzled" publications cannot do.

In Honor of a Good Woman

The Richmond Terminal newspaper is in receipt of information from Worcester, Mass., that R. R. Veale, sheriff of Contra Costa county, was the only Contra Costan who planted a tree in commemoration of Clara Barton, founder of the Red Cross.

Now, we know we have a 100 per cent sheriff. The "Little General" does not forget. He remembers and honors the woman who has been acclaimed the greatest humanitarian of womankind. When Sheriff Veale visits Boston or Worcester he will receive courtesies and attentions from a people perhaps a little different from some of the forgetful kind in the "wild and woolly west."

They had been married just one week. She had said something that distressed him, and seeing the look on his face she exclaimed:

"Oh, darling, I'm afraid I have hurt you."

"No, dearest," he replied gravely. "The hurt I feel is due to the fact that I know it hurts you to feel that you have hurt me."

"Ah, no," she said. "Do not let that hurt you for a moment. I am hurt because I know it hurts you to feel that I have hurt myself by hurting you."

"No, no, my precious. My hurt is because you are hurt over feeling that I am hurt because you feel that you have hurt me and are therefore hurt yourself and—"

Dick—Am I the very first man you ever loved, dear?

Dora—Of course you are! How foolish men are! You all ask the same question.

RADIO WAVE-CHANGER SWITCH

A three-point wave-changer switch with locking attachment, described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine, is now available for radio generators. The switch arm is so arranged that when it is moved across the face of the appliance, it may be locked in either of three spring contacts. Each of these contacts gives the necessary connection for a different length of radio wave. By this method of securely fastening the arm in position on the contacts, there is no possibility of the arm jarring or vibrating out of place.

HE HAD ENOUGH

A young and untried fireman was serving at his first fire and the chief, rushing up to him, shouted:

"Climb up that ladder to the eighth floor, crawl along the cornice to the fourth window, drop down three floors, and catch that wooden sign you see smoking; then swing yourself along to the second window, break the glass and go in and see if there's anyone about. Well, what are you waiting for?"

"For pen and ink, sir," said the new man. "I want to hand in my resignation."

COCONUTS

Our country is so big, and its activities so varied, that none of us has more than a faint idea of what's going on at any time.

This is illustrated in a report showing that a billion coconuts a year are grown under the American flag, most of them in our island colonies. Nine coconuts a year for each of us.

United States and China are the only countries in the world with a "balanced exchange"—self-supporting, able to get along without imports in a pinch.

Gas is Ordered and Delivered instantly

It's baking day.

The careful housewife knows that her single oven burner will use about 20 Cubic Feet (c.f.) of Gas, for each hour she wants to use it. She estimates that the baking to be done will make it necessary to keep the oven going for about two hours.

To order 40 Cubic Feet of Gas for this two hours of baking, she simply turns the valve, applies the match, her order is placed and delivery started. There is no telephoning—no waiting—no trip to the store as when she orders other things. It's easier to order Gas than anything that comes from a store.

THE Pacific Gas and Electric Company delivers Gas immediately as needed—the gas starts the instant the valve is opened. The Gas Meter counts the Cubic Feet (c.f.) as they are used, and records accurately the exact amount consumed.

Buying Gas is so easy—so simple—that users often forget the satisfying convenience of this delivered-at-your-home service.
